Hello, Board Members:

I also wanted to provide you with some documents and other information relating to our enforcement activity in the electrical world. The first attachment is the list of public electrical enforcement actions for 2021. The second tracks electrical cases by month from 2018 through 2021 – this shows trends in cases opened, cases closed, and enforcement actions (Orders) issued by month, from year to year, for electrical cases only. The third attachment compares cases opened, cases closed, and actions taken by year for residential building contractors, electrical, and plumbing, the three areas that cover the vast majority of our enforcement activity.

We currently have 185 open electrical cases and eight cases in which we issued an Administrative Order or Licensing Order and the Respondent(s) requesting a hearing to contest our action. The Attorney General represents DLI in these cases, which are litigated through a contested case proceeding at the Office of Administrative Hearings if a mutually acceptable settlement cannot be reached.

We continue to monitor solar contractors closely and recently took action against a Utah company that was not complying with supervisory ratios and had workers in Minnesota who were neither licensed nor registered with DLI.

In addition to ratio violations, we’ve been focusing on electrical contractors whose responsible licensed individual (RLI) does not meet the statutory requirements to act as the company’s RLI (they must be an owner or officer, or a managing employee actively engaged in electrical work on the contractor’s behalf). I think we’ve done a pretty good job of cleaning up a lot of “ghost masters” in the last couple years (individuals who don’t perform electrical work for the company and essentially rent out their status as a licensed master) so what we’re seeing now is licensed masters who are actively performing electrical work for the contractor but are not an owner or officer of the company and are also not being treated as a W-2 employee (mostly being paid cash off the books). Contractors that operate this way are putting their competitors at a disadvantage by not paying unemployment insurance taxes, withholding payroll taxes, or covering the worker for workers’ comp insurance. We’ve also taken recent action against a handful of licensed contractors that are knowingly pulling electrical permits for unlicensed contractors, in some cases their own workers doing side jobs! In fact, six of the eight cases we currently have in litigation involve this type of allegation. In these cases we seek action against the licensed contractor as well as the individuals who are acting as unlicensed contractors under the licensed contractor’s permits. We find these cases through the vigilance of our electrical inspectors in the field and through consumer complaints.

On the licensing side, our Licensing staff are wrapping up the renewals of about 1,700 plumbing contractors whose licenses expired December 31, 2021. As we turn to the 2,644 electrical contractors eligible for renewal by February 28, 2022, we’ve already completed the renewal of 474 (18%) and have 133 under review. We mailed out a yellow renewal reminder postcard to all electrical contractors at the beginning of December and will be following up with GovDelivery email messages in the beginning and end of February to those that have not yet submitted a renewal.

I will be available at next week’s meeting to answer any questions you may have about these or any other electrical licensing or enforcement issues. As always, please feel free to contact me directly any time.

Sincerely,

Charlie Durenberger

NERA 2021 Virtual Meetings

This year the NERA meetings were held virtually again due to travel restrictions for certain member states.

Topics discussed in the meetings held on October 18, 2021, consisted of:

- CEU credit reciprocity with states who are reciprocal with licensing. Minnesota already accepts CEU’s from providers from other states if the course and instructors meet the criteria, and are approved by the dept.
- Exam bank of questions.
  - It was decided not to create a NERA exam bank of questions at the 2020 meeting.
  - Several states have shown interest in creating a bank of questions that may be used by the participating states. Issues that are still relevant are:
    - Difficulty of providing questions that will work for each state since all states are not on the same code cycle
    - Amendments, law, and rule differences
- Discussion on multi language exams. Colorado is looking into providing exams in Spanish.
  - Require code books in other languages
- Discussion on bringing in new members into NERA:
  - Washington
  - Oregon
  - City of Reno is in a trial period for licensing that has the potential to become a state mandate
- COVID update (listed below with each reciprocal state)

North Dakota – worked from home for a few weeks, then returned to the office. Inspectors have occasionally accepted pictures for inspections; however, only if familiar with the job. 12 inspectors across the state with roughly 8200 certificates. Board allows four (4) cities in the state to have their own inspectors but still work with our office. January 1, 2021 the 2020 NEC was adopted. Created an education committee, which is reviewing and approving apprenticeship training courses. PLE license created and required for 500-517. Exams are corrected by staff and by hand. Also currently advertising for an inspector.

South Dakota – have allowed video inspections and proof of completed corrections via pictures; however, most inspections have still been in person. Gone from 15 inspectors to 10 in the last year. Need additional inspectors in order to keep up. South Dakota has cleaned up portions of laws and rules that weren’t being used. January 1, 2022 exams will be on 2020 NEC.

Alaska - budget crunch for almost 10 years. Travel is problematic due to the budget and COVID has added additional travel restrictions. Some areas require a 10-day quarantine prior to being allowed in to inspect.

Montana - Some cities still have restrictions; however, the state is back open for business. Video inspections are being utilized in commercial and residential for places further away that inspectors can’t get to. Red Tape Removal Project to review all laws and rules to clean up language that would provide barriers to licensure in the state of MT. Hope to move forward with 2020 exams in the next 8 months or so.
NERA 2021 Virtual Meetings

Wyoming - budget cuts have caused local jurisdictions to close and then the responsibility has gone back to the state. State only has six (6) inspectors for the state. Seeing lots of solar installs and have issues with non-licensed individuals installing them.

Colorado - working remotely. Asked to submit vaccination status in hopes to return to the office. If you don’t report your status, you must be tested twice a week and submit results to HR. Inspections have never ceased for the state. Video inspections were implemented and, in the future, will implement more. Residential re-inspections were done remotely, and now most residential inspections are remote. Private sector and federal agencies are using remote work as incentive to attract employees. Legislation requiring apprentices to take a Journeyman exam after 6 years of being registered with the state.

Iowa - a few amendments to the 2020 NEC regarding GFCI requirements. Exam pass percentage was lowered to 70%. Considered essential workers so business as usual. Same issues with solar, poor installs, and licensing issues.

Nebraska - no mask mandate, business as usual and have worked in the office and in the field throughout COVID. In process of adopting 2020 NEC, hope to know in January or February. Switched to ICC testing and no longer do in person testing. Solar issues as well with quality of work, etc. Also issues with late permits or not filing permits, currently a $50 fine hoping to increase it so it may have more of an effect.

Arkansas – no COVID restrictions or mask mandates. Also struggling to fill open positions. Same issue as Wyoming for solar installs and unlicensed people. Had to notify people they are 120+ days out for inspections due to shortage of inspectors. Adopting 2020 NEC in January 2022.
